The clerk was surprised, but couldn't argue with her explanation: "My parents like it."

On one occasion while a woman's niece Lupita was in preschool, in our eagerness to help her remember what it was she had learned during the week, the woman's sister wrote the symbol "+" on a piece of paper and asked the girl: "What sign is this?"

"It's a plus," she responded.

"And what is it used for?" we asked.

Uncle Bart was a city boy whose familiarity with wildlife began and ended with pigeons.

One time he joined his family at their cabin in the woods.

In the evening, he opened the door to let their cats in.

The first cat walked in; then the second.

Bart stood there coaxing the third cat to come, which they found strange-they had only two cats.

The third cat was an opossum.

“That’s probably because there’s a Starbucks on every corner,” she observed.

A man was thrilled to be moving into his own house, even though it was only a block away from his parents’ house.

The very first morning on his own, he relaxed on the porch and listening to some music, enjoying his new independence.

Then the phone rang.

It was his father telling him to turn down the sound system.

A man was working in an amusement park when a couple stopped him.

“See?” she said to her boyfriend.

“I told you it wasn’t real.”

When a man was in the sixth grade, he lost the sight in his right eye during a playground mishap.

Fortunately, the accident had little effect on his life.

When he reached his 40s, however he needed to get glasses.

“You’ll get a million today, and then the rest will be spread over the next 19 years.”

Larry is furious.

“Look, I want my money!

And if you’re not going to give me my $20 million right now, then I want my dollar back!”

A teacher was reviewing the academic record of one of her students so that she could write a letter of recommendation.

The teacher noticed that among many good grades the student had also earned an F.

Since she had achieved high grades in difficult subjects such as physics and philosophy, the F in a physical education course seemed peculiar.

“How did you manage to get an F in archery?” the teacher asked.

The student looked sheepish and replied, “I shot the teacher.”

The clerk rummaged under his counter, then went to some other clerks who did the same-only to return and confess, “You’ll have to come back later.

We can’t find the forms.”
